

Business English language workshop in your place of work.

A week long program, structured to fit employee's busy schedule during their normal working hours.

Our experienced tutors understand the time constraints of a working office and can provide a timetable with classes available throughout the day. Depending on their level, employees can 'drop-in' to a class at lunch or any period free they have during their working day.

The classes will be communicative, meeting no pens or paper (however take home worksheets will be provided) and grammar focused on practical usages in the business world. With the concept of offering compact intensive 45min sessions, these professionals will leave the board room feeling confident to speak English and apply their recently acquired piece of language, now knowing the correct application and pronunciation.
